MUST KNOW

- Los Angeles is a LOT more than Los Angeles; most people choose LA as starting point/destination but actually end up booking a hotel in Anaheim/ Santa Monica/ Hollywood

Los Angeles – Top Attractions

Universal Studios Hollywood

Disneyland Resort Anaheim – just outside Los Angeles, Disneyland is California's theme park since the 1950s. It is a lot smaller than Disney in Florida but that makes it nicer and easily doable in one day.

Hollywood – Hollywood is a destination with its own unique history and iconic sites. Most sites are closely associated with the film industry: the hillside Hollywood sign, Hollywood Boulevard, the Walk of Fame, and the Chinese Theatre can easily fill a day or two of sightseeing. If you're lucky, you might even spot a celebrity or two.

Santa Monica – Santa Monica is a unique destination that is both chic and laid-back. The beautiful stretch of golden sand along the coast and the famous Santa Monica Pier, with its iconic Ferris wheel, are what most tourists come to enjoy, but you can find a variety of experiences in this beachfront city next to LA.

Venice Beach—deserves its reputation as a place to see and be seen, making it perfect for people watching, although the area definitely has its own unique vibe. This stretch of golden sand and the Venice Beach Boardwalk are always thronged with people walking, cycling, rollerblading, and jogging.

MUST KNOW

- San Diego is adjacent to the border of Mexico
- San Diego is the 8th largest city in the entire US
- You will find Spanish and Mexican heritage all over the city

San Diego – Top Attractions

Balboa Park - encompasses a 1,400-acre site with historical buildings, numerous museums, gardens, and green space. The park was created for the Panama California Exhibition of 1915-1916, and most of the buildings remain from that event.

SeaWorld San Diego – SeaWorld San Diego is one of the city's main attractions, particularly for families. It is located along the waterfront in Mission Bay.

San Diego Zoo – Located in Balboa Park, the San Diego Zoo is one of the largest and most famous zoos in the United States. The zoo has all kinds of exotic animals, including pandas, which have been successfully bred here. It is spread out along a canyon, with many hills that can sometimes be challenging for visitors wandering through the site.

SeaPort Village & Old Town- San Diego's Seaport Village is a delightful place to stroll around and spend an afternoon. Located right on the waterfront, this area of unique shops and restaurants is one of the city's must-sees. The Old Town San Diego State Historic Park gives visitors a look at the town's Mexican and early American history, and offers opportunities for shopping and dining.
